Offered by American Studies

Major in American studies with the B.A. degree in liberal arts and sciences.

Minor in American studies.

The Major

American studies is an interdisciplinary program designed to bridge the division of knowledge into discrete disciplines. Each of the four program clusters combines American studies core courses, which relate materials and methods from various disciplines, with upper division courses from several disciplines. The courses are selected to focus on and bring into interrelation one group of American people, one social or cultural process, one place and one period.

The special integrating work in the student's major program is a series of special studies under the direction of members of the American studies faculty in which the student produces a paper or project interrelating the four focuses of his or her studies. The paper or project must make use of two or more disciplines' analyses of the same material. Because American studies finds its center in the concept of culture, the paper or project must deal at least in part with the cultural connections among the four subjects of focus.

With the approval of the American studies adviser, the student may design a program cluster comparable in format to those listed in this catalog but tailored to his or her individual interests.

The minor in American studies is open to all students and is of special interest to international students. The coursework is intended to provide a broad perspective of the American culture - the heritage, the ideas and dreams, and the failures as well as accomplishments.

The flexibility of this interdisciplinary major allows graduates to enter a broad range of career areas, including journalism, law, law enforcement, environmental planning, teaching, archival work, museum curatorship, international business, librarianship or government service. Competencies gained by the American studies major provide a sound basis for entering graduate study in a variety of areas. Many universities have graduate programs in American studies. Graduate work may be required for entrance into a specific career field.

Business and teaching professions in foreign countries welcome American studies majors who can help them understand the way business and social life is conducted in the United States.

Advising

All College of Arts and Letters majors are urged to consult with their department adviser as soon as possible; they are required to meet with their department adviser within the first two semesters after declaration or change of major.

American Studies Major

With the B.A. Degree in Liberal Arts and Sciences
(Major Code: 03131)

All candidates for a degree in liberal arts and sciences must complete the graduation requirements listed in the section of this catalog on "Graduation Requirements."

A minor is not required with this major.

Preparation for the Major. Anthropology 102; English 250A*-250B* (three or six units); History 109, 110 (three or six units). (12 units)

* Prerequisite: A grade of C (2.0) or better in Africana Studies 120 or Chicana and Chicano Studies 111B or Linguistics 100 or Rhetoric and Writing Studies 100.

Students should note that a number of the upper division required and recommended courses listed below have lower division prerequisites, but these prerequisites do not constitute requirements per se for the completion of the major.

Foreign Language Requirement. Competency (successfully completing the third college semester or fifth college quarter) is required in one foreign language as part of the preparation for the major. Refer to section of catalog on "Graduation Requirements."

Upper Division Writing Requirement. History 450W, English 508W, 581W, or Rhetoric and Writing Studies 500W with a grade of C (2.0) or better.

Major. A minimum of 33 upper division units to include American Studies 499, 580; and nine courses from one of the following clusters or a specially designed cluster.

In the specially designed cluster, the student will normally take three courses in one area and two courses in each of three other areas. However, the student must take at least one course in each area. The student may take no more than three courses in one discipline on the major program. The student must file with the Office of the Registrar a master plan approved by the adviser for the American studies curriculum.
