Associate Dean: Charles F. Hohm
Assistant Dean for Student Affairs: Leslie S. Johnson
Director of Development: Vincent M. Blocker
Director of Resource Management: Sharon S. McMahon

General Information

The College of Arts and Letters is at the very heart of liberal arts education at San Diego State University. Its programs in the humanities and social sciences are offered through 19 academic departments and several interdisciplinary programs, each of which is designed to help students to understand their role in society and to develop aesthetic sensibilities. Arts and Letters courses are offered to explore the experiences of men and women in society, their cultural expressions and practices, their languages, and their philosophical concepts. The College's highly trained, professionally active faculty seek to give students an awareness about the development of present knowledge and how to generate new knowledge. Students are encouraged to develop keen observation skills, the capacity to think critically, and the ability to express their views intelligently and sensitively as leaders.

Research Centers and Institutes

Africana Center for Cultural Literacy and Research

JoAnne Cornwell and Francis Nesbitt, Co-Directors

The Africana Center for Cultural Literacy and Research provides independent and collaborative projects (across a broad spectrum of academic disciplines) that create professional development opportunities with an Africana cultural focus for students, faculty and staff; research opportunities for students and faculty; and culturally enhanced teaching opportunities for SDSU faculty. The Center's programs also provide venues for community service which focus on Africana cultural groups.

The Africana Center is housed in the Department of Africana Studies and can be reached by calling the department office at (619) 594-6531.

Bread and Roses Center

The Bread and Roses Center for the promotion of creativity, scholarship, and community action in support of the women's movement, is the first such center in the nation.

The Center brings activists, artists, and scholars committed to feminist social change to SDSU to network with colleagues and students on the campus and in the San Diego community, and to reflect upon and reorient their practices. Visiting residents of the Center benefit from the opportunity for rejuvenation. The Center also supports a strong international community of artists, students, scholars, and community activists working to achieve equality for women. The Center hosts such activities as colloquia, festivals, readings, exhibitions, and special events. For those wishing to expand their knowledge of women's movements, the Center provides a forum for courses, guest lectures, and workshops. The Center enhances two missions of SDSU: promoting internationalization of the curriculum and students' learning experiences, and reaching out to, and positively interacting with, the larger San Diego community.

The Bread and Roses Center is housed in the Department of Women's Studies and can be reached by calling the department office at (619) 594-6524.

China Institute
Paochin Chu, Director

The China Institute coordinates and supports on-campus teaching and research related to China. The Institute develops and fosters faculty and student exchange programs with Chinese universities and institutions of higher learning. Various cultural programs on China and activities on campus and in the community promote cultural awareness and understanding. The development of Chinese publications, audiovisual materials, periodicals, newspapers, and other resources on campus fosters relationships between San Diego State University and the Chinese community, as well as nurtures friendship between the Chinese and American peoples.

Institute of Druze Studies
Samy Swayd, Director

The Institute of Druze Studies (IDS) is an academic non-profit organization dedicated to research and discourse on the Druzes and related topics. The Druzes are a Middle Eastern minority group that live predominantly in the mountainous regions of today's Lebanon, Syria, Jordan, Israel, and with smaller numbers elsewhere around the world. More than 25,000 Druzes live in the United States with California as the main Center of the American Druze Society (ADS). The Druze sect began in Cairo and has survived for almost one thousand years.

The IDS aims to 1) provide information on Druze history, society, and faith; 2) encourage research and studies on historical and contemporary Druze communities; and 3) promote academic discourse about other immigrant religious communities. The IDS pursues these objectives through an international multidisciplinary conference, an academic journal, and a newsletter. The IDS participates in professional conferences and provides guest lectures to interested organizations.

For more information, call the IDS office at (619) 594-1880, the Department of Religious Studies at (619) 594-5185, FAX (619) 594-1004, or www.druzestudies.org.

Donald I. Eidemiller Weather Station
Edward Aguado, Director

The Donald I. Eidemiller Weather Station serves as a teaching and research resource. The station also archives monthly and annual data published by the National Climatic Data Center and has been observing and recording local weather information for more than 40 years.

Institute for Ethics and Public Affairs
Darrel Moellendorf, Director

The Institute for Ethics and Public Affairs at San Diego State University seeks to promote critical thinking about moral issues that are often complex in nature. It aims both to be a resource to members of the campus community, the larger community of scholars, and the greater San Diego community who wish to pursue thoughtful discussion as a means of clarifying moral problems. It also aims to raise the profile of the moral dimensions of contemporary issues. The Institute is housed in the Philosophy Department, but seeks interdisciplinary discussion and collaboration since clarity on contemporary moral problems often involves both the application of normative theorizing and empirical investigation. The Institute organizes and sponsors a variety of programs on applied and theoretical moral issues. Among these programs are colloquia, community outreach talks, lectures, and student essay contests.

Center for European Studies
James L. Schorr, Director

The Center for European Studies, through its associated faculty and students, is committed to the multidisciplinary study of Europe and its dynamic and evolving calculus of nations, cultures, languages, and perspectives. The Center is a vehicle for fostering appreciation of Europe, the societies and cultures within its geographical boundaries, and the ideas that make up various European realities.

The Center will develop grant funded programs (e.g. colloquia, symposia, etc.), collaborative teaching and research opportunities, faculty exchanges, internship leads for partner programs, workshops, and related activities.

For more information regarding the Center for European Studies, contact James L. Schorr, Department of European Studies, (619) 594-5111 or 594-5671; jschorr@mail.sdsu.edu.

Center for International Business Education and Research (CIBER)

Michael L. Hergert and Steven J. Loughrin-Sacco, Co-Directors
David P. Earwicker, Managing Director

The Center for International Business Education and Research (CIBER), one of 30 such centers of excellence in the United States, was established in 1989 under the auspices of a grant from the U.S. Department of Education and is administered by the Colleges of Arts and Letters and Business Administration.

CIBER promotes: (1) interdisciplinary programs which incorporate foreign language and international studies training into business, finance, management, communications systems, and other professional curricula; (2) interdisciplinary programs which provide business, finance, management, communications systems, and other professional training for foreign language and international studies faculty and advanced degree candidates; (3) evening or summer programs, such as intensive language programs, available to members of the business community and other professionals, which are designed to develop or enhance their international skills, awareness, and expertise; (4) collaborative programs, activities, or research involving other institutions of higher education, local educational agencies, professional associations, businesses, firms or combinations thereof, to promote the development of international skills, awareness, and expertise among current and prospective members of the business community and other professionals; (5) research designed to strengthen and improve the international aspects of business and professional education and to promote integrated curricula; and (6) research designed to promote the international competitiveness of American businesses and firms, including those not currently active in international trade.

CIBER is located in Business Administration 428; (619) 594-3075; FAX (619) 594-7738; ciber@mail.sdsu.edu; www.sdsu.edu/ciber.

International Population Center
John R. Weeks, Director

The International Population Center (InterPop) promotes applied demographic research and the provision of technical assistance and consulting, especially focusing on population issues and policy within the San Diego/Tijuana region and the Middle East.

Although it is located in the Department of Geography, InterPop is a multidisciplinary facility, linking Center faculty from several departments on campus with Center associates from other organizations and universities in the San Diego region. The telephone number for the center is (619) 594-8040.

Institute for International Security and Conflict Resolution

Alan R. Sweedler and Dipak Gupta, Co-Directors

The SDSU Institute for International Security and Conflict Resolution (IISCOR) encourages and facilitates teaching and research in the multidisciplinary area of international security and conflict resolution. Specifically, topics such as nuclear armaments, international and intranational conflict, sociopolitical violence, and global environmental issues as they relate to security are covered.

The Institute is a joint effort of the Colleges of Arts and Letters, Professional Studies and Fine Arts, and Sciences. IISCOR is administered by two co-directors, advised by an executive committee consisting of faculty members representing the different disciplines that provide input into the study of international security and conflict resolution.

The Institute promotes teaching and research by organizing public forums, faculty and student seminars, developing appropriate curricula for undergraduate and graduate instruction and facilitating research and scholarly activities. SDSU offers, through IISCOR, a multidisciplinary Bachelor of Arts degree in International Security and Conflict Resolution.

International Technology and Trade Network (ITTN)

David P. Earwicker and Marc Siegel, Co-Directors

The International Technology and Trade Network (ITTN), an institute of San Diego State University's Center for International Business Education and Research (CIBER), is a collaborative offering of the College of Arts and Letters and the College of Business Administration. The objective of the ITTN is to promote methods for creating a stable economic environment for transnational business, trade, and research. The Institute will seek ways to use business as a catalyst for regional peace and cross-border economic development. This effort will focus on networking together business assistance organizations, academic institutions, and research centers in regions of conflict and emerging economies. We will establish a virtual business assistance network that will take advantage of the latest Internet, information, and telecommunications technologies to provide business-to-business and organizational links. We will use these technologies to share information as well as provide educational, training and distance learning opportunities to participating members of the network. For more information, contact David Earwicker with the SDSU CIBER at (619) 594-6023 or david.earwicker@sdsu.edu.

Center for Islamic and Arabic Studies

Paul J. Strand, Acting Director

The Center for Islamic and Arabic Studies administers the minor in Islamic and Arabic Studies. It is committed to supporting teaching and research focused on the lives of Muslim and Arabic-speaking peoples past and present. The Center's study of the Islamic world focuses on the global context in which Islam emerged historically, the cultures and societies that it helped shape, most especially in Eurasia and Africa, and the current global condition in which people in the Islamic world situate themselves today. It sees the Arabic language as the cultural medium for diverse ways of life that are of world-historical significance.

The Center is multi-disciplinary and includes in its scope of study the Arabic and Persian languages and literatures; the history of Muslim and Arabic-speaking peoples; political, economic, and social dynamics of contemporary societies; art and architecture; social, political, religious, and philosophic thought; and the experience of Muslim communities in the United States and around the world. For more information, contact Farid Abdel-Nour at (619) 594-6598 or abdelnou@mail.sdsu.edu.

Latin American Studies

James B. Gerber, Director
Hugo Murillo, Associate Director

The Center for Latin American Studies seeks to encourage teaching and research related to Latin America. It has primary responsibility for the administration of the Latin American undergraduate and graduate degrees. It also participates in joint degree programs in International Business, Business Administration, and Public Health. Since 1976, the Center for Latin American Studies has been designated a National Resource Center for Latin American Studies (one of only 21 in the nation) by the United States Department of Education and funded through a Title VI grant, in consortium with the Center for Iberian and Latin American Studies at the University of California, San Diego. CLAS, along with CIBER and LARC, is one of three Title VI funded centers on the San Diego State University campus. In conjunction with this award, the Center administers programs that are interdisciplinary, drawing on the expertise of an outstanding Latin Americanist faculty from the following departments: Anthropology; Art, Design, and Art History; English and Comparative Literature;

Economics; Geography; History; Political Science; Public Administration and Urban Studies; Sociology; Spanish and Portuguese Languages and Literatures; Women's Studies; and the College of Business Administration. In addition, the Center is involved with the development of innovative methods of instruction in Spanish, Portuguese, and Mixtec; the provision of informative and in-service training programs for elementary and secondary school teachers; and the provision of services for the general public through the sponsorship of conferences, workshops, lectures, and films. The Center also assists in the development of the University library's Latin American holdings. The Center has cooperative agreements for research, faculty, and student exchanges with several Latin American universities, particularly in Mexico, Chile, and Costa Rica.

Lipinsky Institute for Judaic Studies

Lawrence Baron, Director

The Lipinsky Institute for Judaic Studies, located in the College of Arts and Letters, serves to coordinate the CSU consortial major in Modern Jewish Studies and the Jewish Studies minor at SDSU. Established with contributions from the San Diego community, the Institute provides financial support for an annual visiting professor from Israel, the annual Galinson-Glickman symposium on contemporary Israeli issues, the Robert Siegel Memorial Lecture, and the Jewish heritage video collection housed in the library's Media Center. It also complements regular course offerings by sponsoring lectures, acting as a community resource on Jewish studies, and housing the Jewish Historical Society of San Diego archives in the Snyder Judaic Studies reading room (Love Library 363).

National Center for the Study of Children's Literature

Alida L. Allison, Director

The children's literature group in the Department of English and Comparative Literature has an international reputation for its academic children's literature program as well as a critical mass of children's literature professors.

For 25 years, SDSU's Children's Literature Circle has served as a focus for regional commitment to children's literature and to enhance the understanding of scholars, teachers, students, and librarians of the intricacies of the field. The Children's Literature Circle has developed into the National Center for the Study of Children's Literature.

The Center will promote scholarly research and support the preparation of future literature teachers. A strong international community of scholars as well as a growing national cadre of those committed to and active in this field will benefit from the Center. For those who already define themselves as children's literature scholars, the Center will provide leadership through such activities as conferences, festivals, colloquia, and special events. For those who are training in this field, including prospective and current educators at all levels, the Center plans to offer courses, summer programs, and workshops offering the study of children's literature from advanced critical perspectives.

Institute for Regional Studies of the Californias

Paul Ganster, Director

The Institute for Regional Studies of the Californias (IRSC) provides San Diego State University with a forum for the investigation, discussion, and dissemination of information about the United States-Mexican border region. The Institute focuses on the border region of California and Baja California and is also concerned with important issues of the United States-Mexican border and border regions elsewhere in the world.

Created in 1983, the Institute has undertaken multidisciplinary applied research projects on important regional concerns including transborder environmental issues, policy perspectives of the California-Mexico relationship, quality of life, and sustainable development. IRSC also plays an active role in Mexico-related professional organizations and is frequently consulted on transborder issues by the media, nongovernmental organizations, the public sector, and other border stakeholders.

Other Institute activities include conducting binational symposia; improving communication between public and private sector representatives on both sides of the border; serving as a clearinghouse for information on transborder events, issues, and institutions; and encouraging the effective use of educational resources among the region's universities. The Institute serves as a major link between SDSU and Mexican institutions.

IRSC has an ongoing publications program that includes books, monographs, and shorter items. Many titles are co-published with SDSU Press.

IRSC has under way major applied research projects on border environmental issues and policy, regional economic issues, and transborder planning issues. IRSC serves as the SDSU link to the Southwest Center for Environmental Research and Policy, a congressionally established consortium of Mexican and U.S. universities for research and policy studies on environmental issues of the border.

Social Science Research Laboratory

Douglas S. Coe, Director

<http://ssrl.sdsu.edu>

The Social Science Research Laboratory (SSRL) was founded in 1974 to support academic computing and social research within the College of Arts and Letters (CAL), the University, and the regional community. SSRL is organized into five units: Instructional Services, Research Services, Systems Support Group, CAL Help Desk, and Data Resources. The department employs 12 full-time staff and over 50 part-time employees classified as lecturers, graduate teaching associates, laboratory consultants, research assistants and data collection specialists.

Instructional Services works closely with faculty to assimilate technological resources into the curriculum and to support academic computing among students and faculty. This is accomplished through four programs: (1) one-unit Social Science courses on the use of statistical, database, spreadsheet, and presentation software and on utilizing academic Internet resources; (2) workshops on the use of selected software applications; (3) class presentations requested by faculty to support computer-related instructional assignments; and (4) individual consultation for students using SSRL's open-access computing classrooms.

Research Services offers a complete range of public opinion polling and survey research services, including sample design, data collection, data reduction, graphic presentation of data, statistical analysis, and data archiving. The section maintains computer systems to support faculty research. Undergraduate internships and research assistant positions are available. Typical research clients include units of government, community groups, and research projects conducted by faculty and SDSU administrators.

Data Resources assists faculty and students in searching for and using archived datasets. Principal sources of archived and electronically accessible information include the Inter-University Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR), the Social Science Database Archive (SSDBA), the U.S. Census, Field Institute California Polls, the Roper Center for Public Opinion Research and Lexis/Nexis Academic Universe. Assistance is provided for locating, downloading, installing, and subsetting datasets for instructional or research applications.

Systems Support Group provides technical support for College of Arts and Letters computing systems. Services include managing computer classrooms, network administration, installing operating systems, software applications and hardware, virus recovery, and procurement advice.

CAL Help Desk serves as the initial point of entry and triage for College of Arts and Letters faculty and staff who need assistance with computer-related problems. Work order requests for hardware and software problems are entered into an on-line system that schedules technical services. The Help Desk also conducts an extensive individualized software coaching program for individual faculty and staff in their office.

The SSRL is located in Professional Studies and Fine Arts 140.
