The Major

Hospitality and tourism management is an interdisciplinary major which culminates in a Bachelor of Science degree offered jointly by the College of Business Administration, a member of the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business, and the College of Professional Studies and Fine Arts. This program provides students with a solid undergraduate program emphasizing basic business management principles and their specific application to the hospitality and tourism industry and its components that make up the industry. The program integrates a significant number of courses from diverse disciplines into a comprehensive theoretical and applied program necessary for success in the hospitality and tourism professions. The program is directed at management positions in the industry, positions that require a broad understanding of management and its application to the businesses and organizations that flourish in this sector of the international, national, state, and local economies.

Students select one of four emphasis areas for in-depth study; Hotel Operations and Management, Restaurant Operations and Management, Global Tourism Management or Events, Conventions, and Attractions Management. With a solid core of business management courses and theoretical and applied study of the broad hospitality and tourism industry, students are educated to move readily into management positions in one of the state's, nation's, and world's fastest growing economic sectors. The hotel and restaurant emphases will prepare managers to effectively administer businesses that provide lodging and food services to business and leisure travelers and tourists. The global tourism management emphasis will educate graduates to work in the United States and abroad in developing and managing tourism enterprises that are economically viable as well as consistent with resources available to sustain the industry within regions and locales. And lastly, the emphasis in events, conventions, and attractions management is aimed at preparing individuals to successfully manage destination based agencies that attract and entertain guests in a host region (convention centers, bureaus, festivals, sporting events, etc.).

Internships

A significant portion of the student's educational program is dedicated to community-based learning components termed internships. Each student must complete two, 300+ hour internships in hospitality and tourism businesses. These experiential learning components enable students to apply their classroom education to real world experiences in actual businesses. The HTM Program has purposely entered into partnerships with San Diego's finest hospitality and tourism enterprises to provide students with specialized facilities and experiences that complete a well-rounded and comprehensive educational experience for graduation and entry into this rewarding profession.

Advising

All students admitted to the university with a declared major in hospitality and tourism management are required to attend an advising meeting with the undergraduate advisers every semester.
